Dog attacks Anne Arundel deputy sheriff

A pit bull attacked an Anne Arundel deputy sheriff who was serving an arrest warrant in Glen Burnie, according to the Sheriff's Office on Monday. Deputy Sheriff Jimmie Junior was searching for suspect Jennifer Ludwig, whose father allowed Junior and other deputies into his residence on Harvard Road to search for her. When Ludwig's father opened a bedroom door Sunday, a pit bull jumped out and attacked Junior, according to the Sheriff's Office report. He suffered multiple bite wounds before the dog's owner locked it in the bedroom. Junior was treated for his bite wounds at Anne Arundel County Medical Center. Animal Control was notified of the incident. - Carolyn Peirce
